

Abstract

The invention concerns peptides constituting T epitopes of EphA antigen, exhibited by MHC I. Said peptides are useful in particular in antitumoral immunotherapy.